Privacy

The KARES Foundation has created this privacy statement in order to demonstrate our firm commitment to privacy. The following discloses our information gathering and dissemination practices for this website: <https://kares.foundation>

Cookies

Your Internet browser has a feature called “cookies” which store small amounts of data on your computer about your visit to KARES. For example, our site uses cookies to keep track of your shopping cart. Although we do not currently provide member accounts, cookies could be used in the future for visitors to save passwords and not have to re-enter it each time they log in. In the future, cookies may be used to deliver content specific to your interest.

Traffic Data

Each time a visitor comes to KARES, we collect some basic technical information. We use basic Google Analytics to keep track of traffic to our site and acquire such information as the location from which the traffic originates and which particular pages within KARES are being viewed and for how long. We may know for instance, that we had 1,000 hits and 2,00 individual visitors to our website today, but we do not know their names, addresses, or other personal information.

Third Parties

Your name or other information will not be shared with third parties unless you have specifically requested us to do so, such as when you choose to participate in family or networking events.

Links

KARES' website may contain links to other websites. KARES is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such websites.

Security

This site has security measures in place to protect the loss, misuse and alteration of the information under our control. Our computer networks and those of our hosting company are protected by complex passwords, firewalls, and other security. Any personally identifying information is given with full consent of the user.

Is credit card / transaction information secure?

We care about the safety and security of your transaction. Our Squarespace website traffic is encrypted via SSL (Secure Sockets Layer) providing a secure end to end connection. SSL prevents hackers from impersonating our site or stealing information customers submit. We use SSL to communicate with your browser software when you order from us online and thereby provide us with credit card or similar information. SSL is the industry standard security protocol, which makes it extremely difficult for anyone else to intercept your credit card / transaction and order information that you send us when you submit your online order. We take precautions to safeguard your credit card data in our internal systems.

Order Forms

Our site uses an order form for customers to request information, products, and services. We collect contact information (like e-mail address), and financial information (like account or credit card numbers). Contact information from the order forms is used to ship purchases, and may be used to send information about our organization. The customer's contact information is also used to get in touch with the visitor when necessary. Users may opt-out of receiving future mailings by sending an e-mail to info@kares.foundation or sending a letter to the following postal address:
